Thank you for choosing Maggie Mumford Tiles.

Due to the handmade nature of the tiles there may be colour variations between batches - it is recommended that you mix the batches together to blend in any variations.

Crazing

All ceramic glazes will craze with time. Some of the tiles will be crazed as they leave the kiln which is an intentional feature of the tile and some may take months to craze and will never be noticeable. The tiles are suitable for kitchens, bathrooms and even power shower and steam rooms. Crazing will not restrict the use of the tiles if fitted correctly. In some cases crazing will occur soon after they have been made and you may hear them 'ping' occasionally. This is often noticeable as they are fitted. This is normal and will stop with time.

Crackle glaze

If you have ordered crackle glaze tiles the surface will be highly crazed. If left unprotected in areas where they can be splashed the crackle may become stained. It is recommended that Stainstop by Lithofin be applied onto the tiled area to provide a water proof barrier. Crackle glaze tiles are not suitable for use in showers.

Hand painted tiles

If your order includes hand painted decorative tiles please note that the fired image is permanent and will not rub off with normal cleaning or wiping down. Please do not however, use abrasive cleaners.
